SCABIOSA, GIANT SALMON BEAUTY

Pure salmon in color with huge flowers and all the vigor of its near relative, the popular Loveliness. The stems are long and stiff, making it a most popular flower for the garden and also for cutting. Pkt. 25c.

NEW COLLARETTE MARIGOLD, CROWN OF GOLD

Gold Medal, All-America Selections, 1937

A new kind of Marigold with a Chrysanthemum-like crown surrounded by a collar of big, broad petals of the same color, bright golden orange. It is the only Marigold with entirely odorless foliage. The flowers have a delicate fragrance. Plants grow about 2 feet tall, bloom early, profusely and continuously until frost. Lovely in the garden; wonderful for cutting. Pkt. 15c.

RUST-PROOF SNAPDRAGON, ROSE SENSATION

It is the richest, most charming shade of rose pink imaginable, with just a slight touch of salmon to add to its piquancy. Huge flowers, with both tube and flower being one solid color. Trusses are immense and finely tapered. Pkt. 25c.

AGERATUM, FAIRY PINK

This new variety is the dwarf compact type which comes in a delightful, soft salmon rose pink color. It begins to bloom when the plant is half grown and continues until the plant is a solid mass of color. Try this lovely novelty for borders this year. Pkt. 25c.

GOODBY 1937

We take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the favors received during 1937 from our old customers who have steadily traded with the Inland Seed Co. since it was organized, also to those who trusted us with their seed orders for the first time during the past year, and to those who undoubtedly will purchase seed and other articles in the year 1938.

The Inland Seed Co. makes no claim to infallibility but on the other hand confesses to errors made in spite of the utmost care given to every detail of the business. We highly appreciate being told when any article purchased from us does not turn out satisfactory or does not fully come up to representations made.

The Inland Seed Co. does not believe in exaggerations, therefore have endeavored to describe seeds and other items as nearly correct as possible. Illustrations used represent the full grown vegetables and all other items as far as has been possible to make them identical in appearance with the original.

We are specializing in northwest grown seeds. Some of these we contract direct with the farmers, others we purchase from growers. Northwest grown seeds as a rule are fully matured. The climatic conditions are ideal for harvesting and curing and as a rule strong germination can be expected.

In life's struggles it is sometimes the part of wisdom to practice economy, but it is never economy to buy seeds at a bargain sale or to make your purchases and selections from a catalogue simply because said catalogue has made lower quotations than any of the others you have received. Do not make the fatal mistake of purchasing your seeds on a price basis only. The best seeds are the most economical, are worth more, and will produce more and give better results and greater satisfaction in every way.

WELCOME 1938

Referring to colored illustrations on outside of front and back covers. Desire to say that so far as the Inland Seed Co. knows, the illustrations and descriptions are true to nature and we highly recommend them. The other seeds on this page have all received the approval of the All-America Selections and are undoubtedly a most worthy collection and we believe will be approved by the most critical of flower lovers.

ASTER SUPER GIANT EL MONTE

Special Mention, All-America Selections, 1936

El Monte was awarded the highest rank of all the new Aster seedlings placed in competition in 1935. Deep glowing crimson, composed of abundant quantities of daintily interlaced plume-like petals, the flowers are extremely large and fluffy, borne on heavy non-lateral, basal branched stems. It is very early blooming, and remains in flower over a long period. Pkt. 15c.

CORNFLOWER, JUBILEE GEM

Award of Merit, All-America Selections, 1937

Jubilee Gem is a dwarf variety of Cornflower making a compact plant literally covered with flowers. The plant is about 12 inches in height. Easy to grow, it is "everyone's" flower and is adaptable for almost any purpose to which a plant may be put. As an edging plant, a border plant, or for ground work in formal beds of roses, etc., it will be found admirable; it is a fine cut flower and, above all, it may be sown outside in the autumn for spring flowering, or in the spring for summer flowering. Pkt. 25c.

BETTER GARDENING

One of the most useful inexpensive booklets with which we are familiar is what is known as "Better Gardening", edited by Harry R. O'Brien, a nationally known writer on garden and farm topics, as well as teacher of Agricultural Journalism at Ohio State University.

This booklet contains 48 pages and has chapter or chapters on 26 different subjects filled full of very interesting and instructive information. Forwarded to your address for 10 cents or will forward it free upon request with any order amounting to $1.00 for package or bulk vegetable seeds.

PETUNIA, FLAMING VELVET

Gold Medal, All-America Selections, 1936

The only Gold Medal winner in last year's All-America Trials, Petunia Flaming Velvet has caused a sensation because of the uniform excellence of its velvety, rich, blood-red flower. It has not yet been widely grown, but after this year will be classed among the popular Petunia varieties. The plants are semi-compact in habit, about 15 inches in height, absolutely uniform, and the flowers are large and borne in great profusion. Pkt. 25c.

FREE INFORMATION BUREAU

We are glad to record that our customers have used this freely, and we wish to state that it has been a source of great pleasure and profit to ourselves, as frequently we have been obliged to investigate before answering, and this fact accounts for the delay of a few days in answering some inquiries. This has been established for the use of our customers and the more it is used the better we are pleased. It is entirely free.

COMMANDER KOEHL

Color, vivid scarlet red without markings or blotches. Individual florets $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches across of which there are 6-7 open at a time, producing a flower spike measuring 24 inches from top to first floret. The vivid color, large florets of heavy substance combined with long flower head, places Commander Koehl as a leader in its color class. 3 for 25c; doz. 75c.

PELEGRINA

A pure dark violet blue, lower petals somewhat darker. Stands excessive heat as do few other varieties. When the first floret opens, nearly all the 16-18 buds are showing color. This makes the spike with its perfectly faced flowers very attractive. There are 6-8 florets open at a time. A good grower and a splendid propagator. Every one who grows glads should have it. 3 for 25c; doz. 75c.

Giant Half Sugar. Is very much more valuable for feeding purposes than the old sorts, it being very much richer. In addition to this, the size and form have been improved until it yields as much per acre as the best mangels.

Golden Tankard (Improved). A special feature is the rich, deep yellow color of the flesh. The roots are of large diameter, tapering quickly at the bottom, which is quite broad, with only a small tap-root.

Klein Wanzleben. This variety has proved to be a very valuable sort, on account of its richness in saccharine matter. Roots rather long, slender growing into the ground.

Mammoth Long Red. This is the largest of all mangels. The roots grow from one-half to two-thirds above the surface and are frequently two or more feet in length by six inches in diameter. Skin dark red, flesh white with veined rings of rose-pink.

Yellow Giant, Intermediate or Gate Post. Roots large, growing half out of the ground; flesh white, sweet and tender; neck small, short, easily harvested.

Cultivated like cabbage, it bears a succession of sprouting heads which, if kept cut, will be replaced by others for 8 or 10 weeks. Each sprout, about 5 inches long, ends in a small head of deep green buds. Many think this vegetable superior in flavor to cauliflower. Pkt. 10c; oz. 60c; 2 oz. $1.00; ¼ lb. $1.75.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Cultivated for the small heads that grow in considerable numbers from the main stem. It is a delicacy much esteemed by some. Sow in seed bed middle of spring and transplant and manage as winter cabbage. Pkt. 5c; oz. 25c; 2 oz. 40c.

CABBAGEFIRST EARLY

Clover Leaf Copenhagen Market. The heads average about 10 pounds, are very solid, with small core and of fine quality. It matures a little later than the Early Jersey Wakefield, and will give a much heavier yield per acre. The plant is short-stemmed, the heads being produced almost on the ground level.

Early Jersey Wakefield. The earliest and hardiest heading of extra early cabbages. Most gardeners depend upon it for the bulk of their extra early crop. Heads conical, very compact, solid and of excellent quality.

COPENHAGEN MARKET

Golden Acre. The heads are very uniform, round, firm and of superior quality. It matures nearly all at the same time. Stands a long while before bursting and is a most excellent shipper, an ideal size for family use. Very fine flavor.

GOLDEN ACRE

CABBAGE—Continued

Enkhuizen Glory. The round heads are very solid, of medium size. Early and of fine flavor. They keep well when put away, and consequently Enkhuizen Glory is valuable also for sowing later in the season for early winter use.

Stein's Early Dwarf Flat Dutch. Grows low on stems. Heads firm, fine grained, tender and excellent flavor.

LATE

Clover Leaf Holland or Danish Ball Head. Short stemmed. This is one of the hardiest cabbages in cultivation, and endures both frost and drought. Matures quite late, keeps well.

DANISH BALL HEAD

Dutch, Late, Flat. A low-growing variety; heads large, bluish green, round, solid, broad and flat on top; an excellent fall and winter variety; a good keeper, and a sure header.

Drumhead Savoy. The leaf is vigorous, with short stem, has densely crumpled leaves and when touched by frost is sweet, delicate and delicious. The head is large.

Rock Red. Best red sort, much used for pickling.

Chinese or Celery Cabbage

The most essential requirements for successfully raising Chinese cabbage is cool weather. Where the summers are warm, sowing must be delayed until early August.

Pe-Tsai. The leaves when young are crimped, of light green color. The plant as it matures becomes more upright and forms heads much like Cos Lettuce. The inner leaves blanch an attractive light yellow or creamy white.

Early French Forcing. It is an excellent carrot for forcing as well as for an early supply from the garden. Small roots, 1½ inches in diameter, tender and of fine flavor. Rich orange skin and flesh.

Nantes or Coreless. This is frequently called and sold as coreless. This however is not correct as it is not entirely coreless, but much nearer to it than any other variety. The flesh is red and very sweet, a stump rooted type growing about six inches in length.

Oxheart or Querande. A thick carrot, five or six inches long and very blunt at the lower extremity. It grows more rapidly and the root attains a weight of more than a pound.

Scarlet Horn, Early. A very early variety. Recommended for the very early market and family garden. Texture fine; very delicate in flavor.

CARROTS—Continued

Long Orange, Improved. A deep orange colored variety. Heavy cropper. Especially adapted for light, deep soils. Grows entirely under ground.

CARROTS—STOCK

Improved Short White. Roots smooth, very heavy at shoulder, tapering. A heavy producing field carrot.

White Belgian. Grows one-third out of the ground. Root pure white, green above the ground. The flesh is of deep yellow color, tender and of excellent flavor.

Yellow Belgian. Large root; yellow flesh; good keeper.

EARLY

Golden Plume. An outstanding early variety. Plants of strong growth with thick, heavy stalks, and a well-blanchd solid heart. Being of superior quality, it is considered by many gardeners to be the very best early celery. Crisp, tender with good storing qualities.

White Plume. Valuable for early market. Foliage green, tinted white; stalks and foliage blanch readily to snowy-white.

LATE

Golden Self-Blanching. It is of a rich golden tint when ready for the table; very handsome and of excellent quality.

Celeriac or Turnip-Rooted. Grown exclusively for its roots, which are turnip-shaped, very smooth, tender and narrow-like. The roots are cooked and sliced; used with vinegar they make an excellent salad.

Golden Crisp or Utah. Medium early, plants sturdy, compact and solid. Rich flavor, very free from strings. If bleached, stalks are a pure white. If not bleached, they are a solid green.

CAULIFLOWER

Cauliflower will not head up good in hot, dry weather, hence the sowing should be so regulated as to bring it to maturity either before the hot summer weather sets in or not until the cooler weather of the fall. After the heads begin to form draw the leaves over and pin or tie them together to protect the heads from the sun and keep them white.

Clover Leaf Snowball (Best Imported Strain). This is an improved extra early strain of dwarf, compact growth. Under favorable circumstances nearly every plant will make a fine, solid head of good size. It is valuable for both early and late.

Danish Giant or Dry Weather (Best Imported Stock). Large leaved, with pure white compact heads. It is truly a first-class cauliflower and is specially adapted to dry locations and to resisting the effects of drouth. Two weeks later than the Snowball.

SNOWBALL

GOLDEN BANTAM

CORN—SWEET

FIRST EARLY

White Cory Extra Early. One of the earliest varieties. It succeeds well where the seasons are short, and can be recommended for general planting. Ears six inches long, with eight rows of broad grains.

Early Minnesota. The stalks are about six feet high. The ears are about eight inches long, eight rowed; kernels very broad, white, sweet and tender.

Golden Bantam. Grows from 3½ to 4 feet in height and produces one or two good ears on each stalk. The ears are about six inches in length, completely filled with eight rows of golden-yellow grains, extending to the rounded tip.

Howling Mob. The stalks are of strong, vigorous growth, four and one-half to five feet in height, have abundant foliage and generally produce two fine ears to each stalk. The ears measure 7 to 9 inches in length, with 12 or 14 rows of good-sized pearly-white grains.

Golden Market. An early yellow variety. Ears running from 10 to 12 rows of medium length. Somewhat earlier than Golden Bantam.

Golden Sunshine. A very early yellow corn, being about a week earlier than the regular Golden Bantam, retaining its flavor and tenderness and producing ears of the same size. Very valuable variety for gardeners on account of its extreme earliness.

MEDIUM EARLY

Bantam Evergreen. A cross between Gold Bantam and Stowell's Evergreen, maturing about ten days later than Golden Bantam, and possesses the golden color of the Golden Bantam and the flavor of Stowell's Evergreen. Ears are about one-third larger than Golden Bantam.

Early Evergreen. This fine variety yields large, handsome, ten and twelve rowed ears, averaging about nine inches in length. It is very sweet, has a fine flavor and remains tender a remarkably long time.

Giant Golden Bantam. As is well known Golden Bantam Corn is the result of a cross of two other varieties, and has been the most popular corn on the market up to the present time. By careful selection, and cross breeding, all the good traits of Golden Bantam has been retained, and in addition a larger ear has been produced, therefore the Giant Golden Bantam corn has the color, flavor and productiveness of the regular Golden Bantam combined with much larger ears, making it the most popular variety of yellow sweet corn. It comes on the market about a week later than the Golden Bantam.

EARLY EVERGREEN

LATE

Stowell's Evergreen. Hardy and productive, very tender. This variety of corn is distinguished by large ears, long, deep kernels, rich, sugary flavor and long keeping qualities. Ears are about seven to eight inches long, fourteen to twenty rowed.

HYBRID SWEET CORN

The sweet corn of a few years ago cannot be compared to the sweet corn of today, and improvements are continually being made. The latest development is what is known as HYBRID SWEET CORN. There are a number of HYBRIDS that can be secured, but the most popular one is the GOLDEN CROSS BANTAM. This HYBRID is a cross between two in-breds known as Purdee No. 51 and Purdee No. 39.

Some people claim that GOLDEN CROSS BANTAM will produce 40% more marketable ears than ordinary stock. Ears usually run 12 rows and are about the same length as ears of Golden Bantam. Strange to say, however, HYBRID CORN will not reproduce itself so it is necessary to make new crosses each year, and for this reason it cannot be sold at the same price as regular sweet corn, but the increased yield will more than offset the difference in cost. It is about a week later than Golden Bantam. The chief points in its favor are the following: ITS PRODUCTIVITY; ITS RESISTANCE TO DISEASE; ITS EVEN RIPENING; ITS GOOD FLAVOR; ITS MEDIUM SIZED EARS.

Postpaid, 1 lb. 40c; 5 lbs. $1.75; 10 lbs. $3.25.

CRESS

Pepper Grass (Curled). The leaves, when young, have a warm, pungent taste, and are used as a salad, either alone or mixed with other salad plants.

CUCUMBERS

Boston Pickling. This is a very productive variety that is extensively grown for pickles. The vines are vigorous. The fruits are bright green, of medium size, very smooth and symmetrical. The flesh is crisp and tender.

Davis Perfect. This cucumber has an ideal shape and a beautiful dark green color. Its eating qualities are unsurpassed, both because of its fine flavor and its small number of seeds.

Long Green, Improved. The vines are very vigorous and productive. The fruit is very long, growing frequently from 12 to 15 inches, and are uniformly slender and of a beautiful dark green color. The large warts and spines are well distributed over the surface.

Short Green, or Early Frame. A vigorous and productive variety producing fruit of medium size and regular form; flesh crisp and tender; excellent for the table or pickling.

White Spine, Improved. One of the best sorts for trade use, fruiting early and abundantly; fruit uniformly straight and handsome; light green, with a few white spines.

LONG GREEN

KLONDIKE

Longfellow. This new and greatly improved cucumber belongs to the white spine family, therefore is inclined to turn white as it approaches maturity, but never shows any trace of yellow. Its color is exceptional, being fully equal to cucumbers grown under glass. Pkt. 5c; oz. 20c; 2 oz. 30c; ¼ lb. 50c; ½ lb. 90c; lb. $1.50.

Gherkin. A very small oval, prickly sort, distinct from all other varieties. Use when young. Pkt. 5c; oz. 20c; 2 oz. 35c; ¼ lb. 60c; ½ lb. $1.00; lb. $1.75.

Everbearing. This is not only a very early variety but is also extremely prolific. If the fruit is kept gathered, vines will continue in bearing throughout the season. The fruit is of medium size and rich dark green color, averaging from four to five inches in length.

Klondike—White Spine Type. Used principally for long distance shipping, as the deep green color holds extremely well. The ends taper slightly, fruit smooth and symmetrical but not as long as some other long varieties. It is very valuable on account of its earliness. Usual size 7x2½ inches.

ONION PLANTS

Matured onions can be secured from the plants much sooner than from seed. It is recommended to plant the rows 16 inches apart and the plants 3 to 4 inches apart in the rows. If planted in this manner it will take about 100,000 to the acre. Do not plant too deep. Plants are put up in bundles of about 100 and 60 bundles to a crate. Count not guaranteed.

Not less than two bundles sold. We are growing quite an acreage in the Northwest, and quotations made are on these plants. In case of excessive winter killing when we might be compelled to secure some plants in Texas, price would be higher.

STRAWBERRIES

EVERBEARING

Gem. This is as its name implies, a bright red berry to the core, well flavored and a good shipper. Not as large as Mastodon, better flavored and a much better shipper and a few days earlier.

Mastodon is rightly named and without doubt is the largest and best everbearing strawberry. It is a very mastodon in the size of its big, red, luscious berries. Their glossy red color and bright yellow seeds give them a beautiful appearance, and their firm flesh and tough skin make them an excellent shipper.

Progressive. As a home garden berry the Progressive fills the bill. The Progressive is a persistent bearer from the time plants are set in the spring until hard freezing.

ONE CROP VARIETIES

Glen Mary. A bright, handsome, prolific, standard sort, and perfectly reliable.

Hood River. The leading standard shipping variety. Dark red color, uniform size, good quality, but not heavy in yield.

Marshall. Produces remarkably large, beautiful fruit, resembling the Glen Mary.

Premier. A very early variety, a good shipper. Ideal in color. Berry ripens evenly. No green parts.

Senator Dunlap. Its color is a rich dark red, with glossy finish. It has become a very popular variety, perhaps on account of its uniformity.

ONION PLANTS

Matured onions can be secured from plants much sooner than from seed. It is recommended to plant the rows 16 inches apart and the plants 3 to 4 inches apart in the rows. If planted in this manner it will take about 100,000 to the acre. Do not plant too deep. Plants are put up in bundles of about 100, and 60 bundles to a crate. Count not guaranteed. We are growing quite an acreage in the Northwest and quotations made are on these plants. In case of excessive winter killing, when we might be compelled to secure some plants in Texas, price would be higher.

Ohio. A leading early sort. Round, short, and thick tubers, smooth and solid; cooks dry and mealy and matures very early. Earliest of All or Early Eureka. Is a shallow-eyed white-skinned variety of vigorous growth. The tubers are smoother and have fewer eyes than most other varieties.

WINTER KILLING OF ALFALFA

Through a questionnaire sent to about 1200 alfalfa growers, the Washington State College has made an analysis of winter killing of alfalfa. Reports show that the main causes are a dry fall and low temperatures without snow covering. Practically all alfalfa which had irrigation or subirrigation through the fall have not been subject to much winter killing.

Grimm Alfalfa is recommended as being more hardy than common. In order to preserve the vigor of alfalfa plants, it is recommended to cut, on dry land, after one-third in bloom and to secure good growth after the last cutting. To attain this end some alfalfa growers cut only once.

Reports also state that Gypsum has increased the vigor of plants on some fields and saved them from winter killing. Some growers consider fall cultivation helps to control winter killing and is important in controlling cheat grass.

ALFALFA

Alfalfa, Common Variety. Most generally sown. Prepare seed bed thoroughly. Permanent for years. Heavy yielder.

Alfalfa, Grimm. A hardier variety than the Common. Different root system. Not subject to winter killing.

Alfalfa, Cossack. It is claimed by some that this strain is hardier than Grimm.

Alfalfa, Ladak. History—Scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture found the natives of Ladakh, a province of Northern India, cultivating a splendid variety of alfalfa. No one knows the age-long period required to develop this hardy strain of alfalfa in this bleak climate, at an elevation of 12,000 feet, where the average rainfall is around 4 inches, and blizzards occur at any month of the year.

Introduced in United States in 1910. In 1927 seed was given to a few Montana farmers for trial. According to Bulletin 111 of the Montana State College, Ladak alfalfa has proved to be more hardy than other varieties of alfalfa.

Fifty-five varieties of alfalfa were seeded on wilt-infested soil by U. S. D. A. in co-operation with the County Agent of Malheur County, Oregon. The Ladak showed a fair stand; other commercial varieties were 95% killed.

Some growers make the following statements: Ladak is extremely hardy. Ladak is drouth-resistant. Ladak resists bacterial-wilt. Ladak is high yielding. Ladak hay is high quality.

CLOVERS

Ladino White Clover. Is a very large form of clover, usually making a growth of 8 to 12 inches. A perennial. The stems lie flat on the ground and commonly root at the joints. Can be grown on rather shallow land where well supplied with humus and moisture. Makes especially vigorous growth on the lower, medium heavy types of soil. Sow 4 to 6 pounds per acre.

Alsike. Produces large crops of excellent hay. Finer than Red Clover. Not so dusty. Stands drouth well.

Red, Medium. Standard variety. Highly recommended for enriching the soil. Hardy, and yields well on any soil.

BROMUS MARGINATUS. The grower states as follows: This grass seems to be a native over quite a wide area of the Pacific Northwest, though generally growing sparsely, a plant or few plants here and there. Has grown it for seven years and still retains the first planting in good growing condition and states that it is the best dry land grass that he has seen. Starts very early in the spring, comes nearer being green all the year round than any other grass. It does not have the creeping root like Bromus inermis. It is very palatable in hay or pasture; very hardy; not affected by our most severe winters; withstands the drouth well. Mixed with alfalfa it makes a wonderful hay or pasture as it eliminates bloat. Seed shatters badly if left to ripen so must be gathered early. Perfectly hardy for fall seeding.

Canary Grass. Known as water grass, as it delights in marshy places. Grows from 6 to 7 feet high.

Fescue, Chewing. Small, hardy low growing. Fine dark green leaves about 6 inches high forming a close turf.

Fescue, Sheep. Known as a bunch grass and forms large tufts 3 to 6 inches in diameter. Somewhat woody.

Orchard Grass. Stands the drouth. Grows well in the shade. Does well in wet or poor ground.

Red Top. Valuable for moist rich soils where it grows very luxuriantly. Grows from 1 to 2 feet high.

Rye, English. Valuable for pasture, as it produces an abundance of foliage. Hay is fine and relished by stock.

Rye, Italian. Annual, quick grower. Attains a height of 2½ to 4 feet. Does best on moist soil and cool climate.

Sudan Grass. Annual. Grows from 7 to 9 feet. Small stem about size of lead pencil. Wonderful stooler.

Crested Wheatgrass. A perennial bunch grass related to Blue Joint, a native of the cold, dry plains of Siberia. It has a strongly developed root system which penetrates the soil to an unusual depth. It is from 5 to 14 days earlier than any other grass and continuous growth until late in the fall. Sow from 10 to 15 lbs. per acre.

Slender Wheat or Western Rye Grass. Botanical description—Western Rye Grass is a perennial with a short rootstock, not creeping. The stems and shoots are rather crowded and the plant grows in dense tufts. Stems and shoots are upright, the stems being from 2 to 4 feet high.

Tall Meadow Oat Grass. Has a deep rooting system, which enables it to withstand a long drouth, remaining green all seasons of the year. Cut during the blooming period for hay. Grows quickly after mowing, and will furnish a second cutting. Sow 25 or 30 pounds per acre.

Korean Lespedeza. The abundant growth, deep penetrating roots covered with nodules make Korean Lespedeza an outstanding grazing and soil building legume, especially for the mountain section. The strong root growth penetrates about 8 inches deep, making it highly drouth resistant, and thriving on poor, wornout soils. In feeding value it is about equal to alfalfa; has no woody stem; holds its leaves well and produces a full crop the first season. It is an annual, reseeds indefinitely although closely grazed.

Sudan Grass. South Dakota has recently completed some tests with Sudan grass for pasture. One acre pastured two cows for 60 days, or gave the equivalent of 130 days of pasture for one cow, comparing favorably with alfalfa and sweet clover.

GRAIN

Markton Oats

OATS

We handle the varieties most grown. Our quality will be as good as careful selection and recleaning can make them.

MARKTON OATS

The outstanding features of Markton oats are their immunity to smut and their superior yield. It is an erect, mid-tall, mid-season variety with a branching panicle. One of their distinguishing characteristics is the presence of hairs on the clum at the nodes. The kernels of Markton are yellowish white, long and slender and have a rather thin hull. Write for prices, stating quantity wanted.

WHEAT

There is wheat and wheat, and it is penny wise and pound foolish to sow inferior quality. This inferior quality may be because the grains have not been fully developed or on account of impurity, or on account of improper cleaning. We guard against all three, hence our quality is right.

WINTER—Jones Fife, Mart'n Amber, Gold Coin.

SPRING—Bluestem, Marquis, Early Bart, Federation.

Write for prices, stating quantity wanted.

BARLEY

Last season we contracted with reputable farmers to grow some of this for us, furnished the best seed we could secure, and now offer Beardless Barley of a very high quality.

Spring Rye. Spring rye is an excellent catch crop where winter grain has been killed out, or for sowing where a fall crop has not been planted.

Write for prices, stating amount wanted, or we will fill all orders at price prevailing on date of shipment, sending grain for the amount of remittance received.

NURSERY STOCK

No attention given to complaints if not reported at once. Add 5c for postage when your order only calls for one root and 3c per root when three or more are ordered. This will equalize postage charges, though in some cases this postage will be too much while in other instances it will be too little.

All plants need food—carefully selected, scientifically prepared. Food that insures green, velvety, weedless lawns, beautiful, luxuriant flowers, healthy, disease-resisting trees and shrubs, and earlier maturing, health-giving vegetables. Half-starved lawns have a thin growth; often contain yellow spots; are frequently infested with dandelions and obnoxious weeds. Half-starved vegetables have poor color and quality and mature slowly. Half-starved flowers show under-developed blooms, deficient growth and lack of color. The best seeds and plants will not thrive in impoverished soils. But deficiencies can be remedied by feeding a plant food scientifically prepared for the particular soil supporting this growth.

PLAN-TONE is not an ordinary by-product fertilizer. It is not made from refuse. It is clean, odorless, free from weed seed and easy to apply. Notice its high analysis: Nitrogen 4%, phosphoric acid 20%, Potash 5%.
